My solution submitted is complete, working and as far as I know there are no bugs or limitations. The Implementation I made was that of an AVL. This was done using the same general ideas as described in the java implementation provided on moodle. The assumptions I have made is that the date provided is in the valid form i.e. 01/01/2017 and that the date provided will be within simple ranges such as day will be less than 31 etc. and will contain integers.
